

ROPE SAVES SEVEN; MAN FATALY HURT BY JUMP IN BLAZE

George Sanksen, Scorched,
Misses Mattress Into Which Wife Jumped.

HIS SKULL IS BROKEN.

Two Families Cut Off in Upper Floors by Fire Started in Hallway.

Seven persons escaped being burned to death by means of a rope lowered from a second-story window and another leaped from the third-story to safety on a mattress during a fire early to-day that destroyed the three-story frame building at No. 401 Railroad avenue, East New York.

George Sanksen, thirty years old, is in Kings County Hospital with a compound fracture of the skull and severe burns on the hands, face and body. After helping his wife out of the third-story window and watching her jump and land safely he found the flames burning him in and he crawled through the window and hung by his hands from the sill. Then with rescue at hand his strength failed.

Clinging there with flames licking the narrow ledge he waited while the men, who had held the mattress ready to catch him. Suddenly he dropped and his body, striking the coping of a window on the second floor, caromed and fell clear of the mattress. Sanksen struck the pavement on his head and was taken to the hospital unconscious.

SAVED LIVES OF TWO FAMILIES WITH ROPE.

The presence of mind of Adolph Kortegast, who lived on the second floor with his wife, Helen, and two children, not only saved them but also Mrs. Frederica Kroemer and Augustin, sixteen, and Frederick, fourteen, wife and children of Frederick Kroemer, who was in his bake shop on the first floor of the building.

Kortegast was aroused when he heard the frantic shrieks of Kroemer, who had smelled smoke in the cellar and ran upstairs to find the first floor hall ablaze. The baker tried to go up the steps to the second floor, but the flames drove him back and he cried a warning to the sleeping families above. Kortegast aroused his wife and children and the Kroemer family and ran into the kitchen where he found a heavy rope.

He tied one end around the waist of his four-year-old daughter Helen and lowered her through the kitchen window to the crowd on the McKinley avenue side of the house. Six-year-old Otto was next and then Mrs. Kortegast, followed by the two Kroemer children and their mother. Then Kortegast tied the rope around a stationary washtub in the kitchen and, crawling through the window, slid to the street.

In the mean time Sanksen and his wife, Eliza, twenty-six, were screaming for help from a window of their bedroom on the third floor. The flames filled the second floor and had cut off their escape by way of the stairs, and the progress of the fire had been so rapid that the couple was in danger of being roasted before the firemen arrived with ladders.

Charles Kauer and Frank Bayly, seeing their plight, ran into a house nearby and got a light mattress. Assisted by others they held it while Mrs. Sanksen jumped. She landed on the mattress and was unhurt.

Detective Mulvey of the Gates avenue police station has heard Kroemer's first warning and run into the hallway and half way up the stairs in an effort to save those in the building. But he had to retreat, with severe burns on his right hand and face. He was attended by the ambulance surgeon and went home.

Kroemer, who owned the building, said the damage would probably exceed $10,000, not including his bake shop and the contents of the three apartments. The building was covered by $5,000 insurance.

DENIES MOTION TO WHITE.

Disorderly Pastor Gets Set Back in Court.

Supreme Court Justice Weeks to-day denied the motion made several days ago by former Assistant District Attorney James W. Osborne for a certificate of reasonable doubt for the Rev. Bouck White, who was sentenced to serve a term of six months in the penitentiary by Magistrate Campbell, for creating a disturbance at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Wife of 62 Says Christian Science Made Her Husband's Love Grow Cold; Sues Rich Woman of 72 for $250,000.

MRS. B. R. WEAVERSON
Doesn't Blame the Man and Says the Woman in the Case Is Wonderful.

SCIENTIFIC STUDY DID IT

As the Husband Learned, the Wife Says, She Lost His Affection and Teacher Got It.

In her artistically furnished suite on one of the upper floors of the Paterno apartments overlooking the Hudson at One Hundred and Sixteenth street, Mrs. Brownie Rathbone Weaver, a fascinating woman of sixty-two, but vivacious as a woman much her junior, told an Evening World reporter to-day what lay back of her formal complaint in which she asks for $250,000 damages against Mrs. Caroline Frame, one of the wealthiest Christian Scientists in New York. Mrs. Weaver accused Mrs. Frame of having alienated the affections of Fred Weaver, her husband, and Mrs. Frame's secretary. Both women are wealthy. Mrs. Weaver's apartments speak of her wealth. On a floor beneath in the same building are the apartments of Mrs. Frame, who figures as the woman who came between husband and wife, who had been wedded for thirty years.

KNOWS DANGER OF JEALOUSY AND AVOIDS IT.

"I suppose," began Mrs. Weaver. "that a woman of a more jealous disposition might have taken a different and more serious method of seeking redress when she saw her husband gradually being won from her. I am thinking of Mrs. Carman, the Freeport woman, who, while she may be guilty or innocent of the charge against her, certainly did not know the first laws of life and that her jealousy would ultimately hurt her instead of others."

"I am content to let the law take its course against Mrs. Frame. I don't want money. I want justice and my husband. Mrs. Frame seeks to show that I was inspired to bring this suit by a hatred of Christian Science. I am not a hater of Science, but believe in the Madman teachings. Mrs. Frame's conduct toward me may have been scientific but certainly not Christian."

"My husband, when he came from the West some years ago, was making only $25 a week and he took up Christian Science. Mrs. Frame was his teacher and an able one, too. She is a wonderful woman and my husband is a wonderful man and I know that in his heart of hearts that he loves me and that Mrs. Frame hates me intensely in her heart."

"We were getting along very happily, not only my husband and I but Mrs. Frame and we built a summer home in Westchester County. I myself designed the house and called it Greystones Crest, but I never lived in it. Mrs. Frame bought property within a stone's throw of our estate and built a home also. Then my husband's attentions to me grew cold and I suspected that his interest in Mrs. Frame was more than that of employee toward employer. He told me that in Science a student could never leave his faithful teacher and that he must stand by her. He said our summer home would not be for me, that I could not occupy it."

"Mrs. Frame is a gifted woman, seventy-two years old, with a wonderful personality. I should say a magnetic personality, and if anything, she has hypnotized my husband."

HUSBAND CAME BACK AFTER LEAVING HER.

"Not so long ago Mr. Weaver went south with her and told me it was all over between us. As soon as he reached her he changed his mind and sent for me and when I arrived he asked my forgiveness. She implored him not to return to me, saying that I was a freak and a faddist."

On another occasion Mrs. Weaver related, when she and her husband were about to celebrate their thirty-third wedding anniversary, which was also the anniversary of her husband's fifty-fourth birthday, she prepared a dinner in his honor. She confidently expected him to attend, but she said she found him enjoying a dinner given in his honor by Mrs. Frame in her own apartment.

"She did not even invite me," commented Mrs. Weaver. After the feast, she said, Weaver stopped eating at his own home, but continued to sleep there as he does now.

"This was her regular course of conduct toward me," Mrs. Weaver continued. "I remember sitting on the veranda one day when Mrs. Frame drove up to our country home in her machine and took Fred away for the whole day. They went swimming and had a bully time, but no invitation was extended to me. This was cruel, but not half so bitter as when Mrs. Frame started to visit me every day and ask me when I was going to leave my husband."

"I hardly blame my husband. He did not realize that while he was attaining a perfect knowledge of Christian Science he was not aware of the personal love that was growing between them."

Mrs. Frame was not at home to-day. At her apartments it was said that she was at Wildwood, her country home. She is the daughter of the late Samuel Willets and widow of Charles P. Frame, a wealthy insurance man who died in 1903, leaving her more than $1,000,000.

EMIGRATION INCREASES.

Figures Show More Steerage Passengers Are Sailing for Europe.

Comparative reports have been received from passenger steamship lines of Atlantic travel for the first six months of this year and last.

The emigrant showing was the most significant. Last year 178,679 third class and steerage passengers sailed from New York for Europe. The number this year was 257,037, an increase of 45 per cent.

Philadelphia sailings were 3,519 and 4,653, an increase of 23 per cent. Arrivals of the same classes of passengers at New York in 1913 were 693,855, and this year 464,337, a decrease of 33 per cent.

NEW BATTLESHIPS NAMED.

Four to Be Known as Arizona, California, Idaho and Mississippi.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The names of the four new super-dreadnoughts now building or authorized will be the Arizona, California, Idaho and Mississippi, Secretary of the Navy Daniels announced to-day.

The last two were so named in order that the States of Mississippi and Idaho might not lose their ships because of the recent sale of two battleships to Greece.

"It isn't every day," said Secretary Daniels as he announced the names of the new vessels, "that a Secretary of the Navy has the privilege of naming a quartet of battleships. With the newly named battleships, every State in the Union now has a battleship named for it except Maryland, Montana, South Dakota, Washington, West Virginia, Colorado, North Carolina, New Mexico and Tennessee."

FIRE ROUTS 20 FAMILIES.

Blaze in Tenement Drives Scores to Fire-Escapes.

A small fire in the basement of the five-story tenement at No. 53 Norfolk street this morning drove twenty frightened families to the street. Though there was little danger from the flames, residents of the tenement, which is directly in the rear of the one at No. 50 Essex street, where eight persons lost their lives in a fire a month ago, wasted no time in getting to the fire-escapes or the roof.

Today's fire started from an undetermined cause in the storeroom beneath the paper and twine store of Abraham Zimberg. It filled the building with smoke and caused damage estimated at $50.

ROOSEVELT PLANS DIVISION OF MEXICO, MOHENO CHARGES

Dictator's Minister of Foreign Relations Reaches Vera Cruz in His Flight.

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, July 10.—

"The Carranza revolution has triumphed, but the United States will soon learn that while it may put a President in power in Mexico it cannot keep him there," was the statement made to-day by former Minister of Foreign Relations Moheno. He was on board the steamer Espagne and admitted his departure from Mexico was in the nature of a flight.

Huerta's former Cabinet officer was emphatic in his assertion as to the hand Americans might play in Mexican affairs. He declared Huerta was not to blame for the killing of Francisco Madero.

"I know who killed Madero," said Moheno, "and as soon as I get to New York I will tell all about it." Moheno said that while Minister of Foreign Relations he learned that Col. Roosevelt inserted a secret plank in the Progressive platform providing that Mexico shall be divided into four or five parts. The Democrats and Republicans believe in the same principle, Moheno charges.

"Francisco Escudero, Carranza's Minister of Foreign relations, has shown me letters from Americans which proved to me that Roosevelt's progressives have such a plank," he said.

Moheno sent a thrust in the direction of President Wilson by saying: "While President Wilson has been occupied with high ideals, 8,000 Mexicans have been killed daily for the past six months. Figure out for yourself the cost of idealism!"

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 10.—News reached here to-day that a force of Mexican Federals on Tuesday ambushed a Constitutional force in the border, near the American border, killing forty-seven.

MEXICAN FEDERALS ABANDON GUAYMAS.

SALTILLO, Mexico, June 9, via Laredo, July 10.—Guaymas, one of the most important seaports on the west coast of Mexico was evacuated by Federals late to-day, according to advices to Gen. Carranza.

"HELLO" MINIMUM WAGE $9.

Salary of Girls Fixed by State Commission of Washington.

OLYMPIA, Wash., July 10.—The State Minimum Wage Commission adopted last night a rate of $9 a week as the minimum for telephone girls throughout the State, except in small exchanges.

This is the fourth minimum wage adopted by the Commission, the others being $10 a week for mercantile workers, $8.50 for factory workers and $9 for laundry and dye workers.

Wilson Visits Consul in Hospital.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The condition of Miss Mary Smith of New Orleans, President Wilson's favorite cousin, operated on for appendicitis, improved on Saturday night, when she was rushed to the Naval Hospital, was reported to-day to be much improved. President Wilson spent a short time with her to-day and it was stated that she will almost certainly recover.

Latest Transparent Gown Reveals Hose of Darker Hue

PARIS, July 10.—Anthony J. Drexl's dinner dance at the Hotel Ritz this week was the largest of the series he has been giving this season.

A notable feature of the affair was the latest Parisian craze for filmy tulle skirts with charming tunic. A number of the dancers wore these gowns, whose transparency reveals hose of spider web texture of darker hue than the skirt to make them stand out in relief. The general result is to give a much more undraped effect than if the wearers appeared in uncovered silk dressings, and when under the big chandelier the entire figure was revealed in perfect outline from throat to foot.

"JUST TOOK A NOTION," SAYS MAN WHO JUMPED FROM BROOKLYN BRIDGE

When Hauled Out He Denies Suicide Attempt and Says
Water Was Fine.

After eating in a restaurant near the Brooklyn Bridge on the Brooklyn side to-day James Minton, a laborer, aged thirty-seven, started to walk across the bridge. He had prospects of a job in a leather warehouse on Gold street. As he reached the Manhattan tower he looked down into the East River. Then he climbed out through the iron grating on the south side of the bridge and jumped. Men on the nearby piers and passengers on several river steamships saw the splash but didn't know what caused it until the head of a man bobbed up and began to do an Australian crawl stroke for the nearest pier.

A passing tug picked him up and turned him loose on pier 19. A watchman on the pier called the St. Gregory's Hospital ambulance and a policeman. When the ambulance reached pier 19 Minton, serene and well cooled off, was sitting on an empty beer keg.

"I just took a notion to do it," Minton told Patrolman O'Neill, "and I must say the water was fine."

Minton insisted that he had no thought of suicide, but O'Neill couldn't see why a perfectly happy man would take such a leap and he placed him under arrest for attempting suicide. Minton was put to bed in the hospital.

OCEAN BEACH NOTES.

Martin Ford is known as the actor of Great South Bay. He knows just how long the fish are going to live, he gets after them.

Through the efforts of C. P. Brown, a pulmotor has been ordered for the bathing beach.

Secretary Kinsey of the Ocean Beach Association wants an amanuensis to transcribe on the official minutes the speeches of the officers at the annual meeting.

Strung pressure is being brought on Rufus Hynds, chairman of the Fire Prevention Bureau, to make "Billy" Danneman chief of the volunteer fire department. Mr. Danneman made a gallant record at the only blaze of the year at the beach.

Playing pinocle on the hotel porch is more thrilling sport than sloughing blow-fish in the bay, according to Paul Franzel.

A report that Hans Klintport captured first prize in the hesitation walks contest Saturday night proved erroneous. He got a prize, but it was in the lottery, one step.

BRITISH WARNING GIVEN TO CHINA

Sir Edward Grey Says There Will Be Trouble if Thibet Convention Is Rejected.

LONDON, July 10.—A warning that trouble is liable to result from China's refusal to sign the convention in regard to what territory shall compose outer and inner Thibet reached by the recent convention at Darjeeling, India, was issued to China to-day by Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary. Sir Edward was speaking on the subject of the appropriations for the Foreign Office in the House of Commons and said:

"If China does not sign, but resorts to an aggressive policy, the consequences must be disastrous for China. There certainly will be grave trouble on the Indian frontier which will require Great Britain to take up the matter seriously with the Government of China."

The Darjeeling conference, at which representatives of Great Britain, Thibet and China have been discussing the subject of Thibetan autonomy, has been in session since last fall, and a convention was recently drafted and presented for signature to the three Governments.

HEARST LOSES SUIT.

Appellate Court Says N. Y. Central May Run Trains Along Riverside Drive.

William Randolph Hearst to-day lost his suit for an injunction to restrain the N. Y. Central Railroad from using the tracks from Seventy-second street to Ninety-sixth street along the Hudson River as a place to operate and store its freight trains.

Mr. Hearst obtained a permanent injunction from Supreme Court Justice Phelan restraining the railroad company from operating its freight trains and using the tracks mentioned but the Appellate Court now reverses that decision.

From Thin to Plump—Girls.

The expression of happiness and gratitude of several of his young patients for whom he prescribed recently successful Cashmere Tablets in relation by a physician in one of the medical journals, "comes as a surprise to the ordinary layman to learn the heart throbs of distress which seem to affect so many young people who are abnormally thin. Also to know that the weight can be so readily increased by the use, regularly for several months, of the peculiarly named preparation, now obtainable of the best physicians, apothecaries, shops, in solid accordance with complete instructions for self-treatment—Advt."
